FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE – July 31, 2013

Enjoy a Free Beef Slider at the State Farmers Market This Saturday

COLUMBIA, S.C. –Join the South Carolina Beef Council for a free beef slider made with local pasture-raised beef at the State Farmers Market in West Columbia, Saturday, Aug. 3. The fun starts at 11 a.m., and each visitor will get a free beef slider while supplies last.

August is Farmers Market Month in South Carolina and now is a great time to visit the Market, grab a beef slider, and shop for local produce.

Throughout the summer the South Carolina Department of Agriculture is hosting a series of Summer Celebrations featuring local produce and products at the State Farmers Market to encourage more people to support local agriculture.

The South Carolina State Farmers Market is conveniently located near Interstates 26 and 77 at 3483 Charleston Highway, West Columbia, S.C., 29172 and is open all year. For market hours, a map, and other information about the market please visit <http://agriculture.sc.gov>
